AT THE THEATERS.At the Novelty.

For the last three days of their engagement here, starting tomorrow afternoon, the Arthur Clamage Musical Review company will present "The Suffragette," their newest and said to be their best offering in the line of tabloid musical comedy. Arthur Clamage and Al Zimmerman have plenty of opportunity to demonstrate their ability as "gloom chasers." The other members of the company are all well cast and the chorus displays new costumes and dance numbers. A tango contest will be held Friday night and the management will furnish partners for those who have none.

Charley Chaplin at Cozy.

At Garfield Park.

United Film company's feature film, "The Greatest Barrier," with George Gebhardt, the great Indian impersonator, will be the leading film at the Casino at Garfield tonight. The "Decree of Destiny," a picture with a real appeal to it, follows, and the program ends with a comedy, "Beazley Hoppers Ranch." The entire evening will be given over to skating in the pavilion.

At the Crystal.

A double feature bill is the program at this house today and tomorrow. "Baby," a two-reel domestic comedy feature, with Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby as co-stars, portraying the antics of the newlyweds over their first born, is said to be one succession of roaring laughs. On the same bill is episode one, "The Purple Iris," of the new "Under the Crescent" series of six parts, featuring the Princess Hassan, an American girl (Ola Humphrey), who tells in pictures the story of her life and escape from an Egyptian harem.

At the Iris.

John Mason, the distinguished American star, and "Jim the Penman," the dramatic success of two continents by Sir Charles L. Young, are simultaneously introduced at the Iris today and tonight. "Jim the Penman" is one of the most notable characterizations of the present dramatic era. The two prominent members of Mr. Mason's screen support are Marguerite Leslie, leading woman of "Outcast," which recently played a triumphant engagement of several months at the Lyceum theater, and Frank Perry, leading man of the dramatic sensation, "On Trial." The cast is further distinguished by the presence of those universally popular photoplayers, Harold Lockwood and Russell Bassett.

The Bargain Basement is ambitious to make up one-sixth of the $100,000 that we expect to sell before July 1st

Here are a few of the bargains that will keep tomorrow's Basement business up to its average

Being our "sixth" floor of merchandise, and a complete store in itself, the Basement takes great pride in maintaining sales records up to the standard of the other Departments, and does an enormous amount of steady business year in and out by KEEPING ITS QUALITIES AND ASSORTMENTS UP AND ITS PRICES DOWN. But now the Basement is going to greater lengths in this sale; prices that have been the lowest in town are lower still, though qualities are as good or better than they have ever been, and assortments of the WANTED GOODS are complete and satisfying, and the service is at its best.

Dresses, Aprons, Corsets

Double Service Dresses—Three-button front and adjustable strap to accommodate any size. A perfect fitting waist, with wide skirt; good quality percale in light patterns. All sizes from our 98c line. Special. 62c
